HAVE BEEN SELLING THE ABOVE elebrated Machine for six years, and not one arge number sold has falled to give entire tion. It is acknowledged by all who are acd with its meries, that they are unequaled for lift, durability, workmanship and ease of draft. They are as easily moved from one farm to another as a common wagon. The difficulty of tearling down fences is avoided by means of the joints in the finger-bar, which allows it to foid entirely overan advantage possessed by no other machine.

A We wish it to be understood by the public that we have the entire control of the Buckeye Machine for Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana, in the counties adjacent to the river. There are other Machines in the market which have been sold as the improved Buckeye. We repeat that the Buckeye Machine is not for sale by any other parties in this city, and those who sell their machine as the Buckeye, or improved Buckeye. Buckeye, represent a falsehood. We have purchased a limited number of Buckeye Machines, containing all the latest improvementa. We advise those wishing to purchase to send in their orders early to insure machines.

Gen. Lee's Application for Par-(From the Richmond Times June 20.)

The Northern papers state that Gen. Robert E. Lee has applied to the Executive at Washington for the exercise of clemency. We hall this step as eminently wise, and judicious and patriotic. An example so illustrious and worthy of imitation must be attended with the happiest results. It removes many difficulplest results. It removes many dimensions from the path of those who have hesitated and questioned the propriety of pursuing a similar course. If this noble and famous Bayard of the South, without hesitation, acknowledges the supremacy of the Government, seeks to be re-habilitated as a citizen, and tenders his allegiance, who need entertain a doubt as to his own duty? General Lee's applica-tion we regard as a cheerful, voluntary a few individuals belonging to the organization, and, in behalf of Gens. Echols and St. John, the President asked for the names embraced in the Ambulance Committee, and inquired particularly whether or not it included Joe Anderson, of the Tredegar Works. When the list was handed him he scanned it carefully and pardoned such as were not especially under the ban and irreproachable character into the

> THE NAVY YARD .- Letters just received from high official sources, though not positively asserting, give some reason to hope that the navy yard for the West will be located at this place. Inquries are made relative to the number of gun-boats that can be provided for and sta-tioned in the mouth of White river, and it is intimated that a naval force at New Orleans is to be pushly supported at an Orleans is to be mainly removed at an early day to Memphis. A report has been returned that ten or a dozen gunboats can be at once provided for here. MUTINY AMONG NEGRO SOLDIERS AT Portsmouth.—The Second United States colored cavalry mutinied on board a steamer lying at the wharfin Portsmouth, steamer lying at the wharfin Fortsmotth, last Saturday evening. They took possession of the vessel, refused to allow it to leave, and next moraing went ashere and ran riot through the town. White troops were stummoned from various quarters, Gen. Graham took command of them and soon overpowered the blacks and drove them about the ship, where preparation had been made for them. They were them had been made for them. They were then armed and sent down the bay... [Richmond Commercial Bulletin. THE REGULATION OF THE FREEDMEN-THEY ARE FOREIDDEN TO COME UPON PLANTATIONS.—The citizens of Dinwiddle had, at a meeting, adopted resolutions prohibiting negroes from coming upon their plantations, except upon business, fixing their pay at 35 per month, refusing to hir any unless recommended by pre-vious employers; and, while recognizing Francis H. Pierpont as Governor and appreciating his generous sentiments, they deprecate the Constitution of the State of Virginia, as now in force, and ask that the same course be adopted for Virginia that has been for North Carolina.

FACITIOUS SCRAPS.

When the chief of the Scotch clan, Mac nab, emigrated to Canada, with a hun-lred clausmen, he, on arriving at Toron-o, called on his naticeake, the late Sh Allan, and left his card as "The Macnab." Sir Allan returned his visit, leaving as his card, "The other Macnab."

"May a man run in debt?" aaked a nodern Boswell of an imaginary Dr. Johnson. "He may," was the character-istic reply. "provided he don's mind for Men's, Boya', and Servanta' wear, are offered at walking into prison."

A father was winding his watch, when he said playfully to his little girl, "Let me wind your nose up." "No," said the child, "I don't want my nose wound up, for I don't want it to run all day."

Mrs. Partington, in illustration of the proverb, "A soft answer turneth away wrath," says "that it is better to speak paragorically of a person than to be all the time flinging epitaphs at him." Commercial intelligence from Shanghai lately announced: "Tea tending downwards." Do you call that news? Why, of course, whenever anybody drinks tea he experiences its downward

"Love in men is like the distemper in dogs," said a disappointed spinster.
"Neither puppies nor men are worth pressed according to the present style of skirts, by saying that eighteen springs have passed over her head. Why has a cabman constantly cause to complain of the hardness of his lot? Because at the best of times his business is at a stand. Why is bad music like a violent exer-tion of the limbs and muscles? Because it is an unwelcome strain. Fashionable society generally has but two faults; first, in being hellow-headed; and, secondly, hollow-hearted.

Is the dog-star a sky terrier, or merely a terrier in the sky? It is a good thing to be above board, but generally a bad thing to be over-board.

Discords: Avoid little discords, for these may lead to great ones. The beautiful tresses of young ladies ere now called beau-strings.

What would our day be without its morning or evening twilight? A fierce and burning eye without a lid. What is the greatest stand ever made for civilization? The ink-stand.

Dear-Stalkers: Those ladies who will come out in the fashion. The man we should like to send to a eance: The man who knows how to hit he happy medium.

A Sailor's Funeral and Grave. How wonderful is the mantle with which the deep sea bottom is found to be covered! The dream of Clarence could not be realized at the bottom of "blue water." The gold and gems which he saw in such profusion may sink into those depths; but, instead of remaining those depths; but, instead of remaining exposed, they must soon be covered up by the showers of falling shells. Yes, and the dead too. The loddies that are dropped into the deep sea do not want due burial. We landsmen are apt to shrink with a shudder at the sailor's funeral. Yet it is an impressive ceremony.

When any one dies on board of a manof-war, his body is sewed up in a hanmock, with one or two cannon balls securrely fastened to his feet. It is then stretched on a plank at the gangway, and all hands are summoned on deck "to buy the dead." The funeral service langread, the plank is titled, and the body slides, feet foremost, into the sea. Should this happen to take place out in "blue water," we have little or no diffi-ulty in imagining what will follow. We shall suppose the body, in its descent, to pass safely through the region of fishes, into the depths where no living thing is. into the depths where no living thing is. Down, and still down it sinks, till at last it reaches the bottom, to which its feet are tied, as it were, by the weight of the rannon balls attached to them. The rest of the body, however, will be buoyed up by the water; hence, it will assume and retain a standing position. Nor is it likely that if will soon decay. Many of the shalls brought up by Crooke's apparatused to response to the shalls brought up by Crooke's apparatuse of superior work, and warranted to give satisfaction for which we can furnish numerous references. likely that it will soon decay. Many of the shells brought up by Crooke's apparatus actually contain in them the fleshy parts of their inhabitants. So that, in all probability, we may conclude that the sea embalms its dead. Yet let us not suppose that, if the waters were drained off, we should see a dreadful array of dead men standing on the ocean bed. Such a scene would be far more terrible than my that the noet's fancy has ever dared my that the poet's fancy has ever dared o paint. But it is a scene which has loubtless no existence. For the little doubtiess no existence. For the mane mites of shells which are constantly falling must soon cover up the bodies of the ocean's mightiest dead, as they sink successively to the bottom—[Rev. John Market 1988].

A SHORT LOVE STORY.—Here is a story told by one Morgan, a sea captain, concerning the choice of a husband at sea, which may afford a profitable hint to young ladies on royage. Single ladies often cross the water under the special care of the captain of the ship, and if a love care of the captain of the ship, and if a love affair occurs among the passengers, the captain is usually the confident of one or both parties. A very fascinating young lady was placed under Morgan's care, and three young gentlemen fell desperately in love with her. They were equally agreeable, and the young lady was puzzled which to encourage. She asked the captain for advice, "Come on deck," he said, "the first day it is perfectly calm. captain for advice. "Come on deck," he said, "the first day it is perfectly calm—the gentlemen will of course, be near you. I will have a boat quietly lowered down, and do you jump overboard and see which of the gentlemen jump after you. I will take care of you." A calm day soon came, the captain's suggestions were followed, and two of the lovers jumped after the lady at the same instant. But between these two the young lady could not decide, so exactly equal had been their devotion. She again consulted the captain. "Take the man that didn't jump," said the captain; "he's the most sensible fellow, and will make the best husband."

At a meeting a year or two ago, in the country, a gentleman was speaking on a question not strictly within the range of business then on the tapis. Becoming animated as his remarks progressed, he exclaimed with something of melo-dramatic solemnity, "Mr. President, my bowels yearn for the miserable victims." "Order! order!" shouted several voices from the opposite corner of the house; the gentleman's boucks are out of order!" The point of order was sustained by the chair, and the speaker was commanded to his seat.

ASTROLOGY. GOOD NEWS FOR ALL. MADAM MAYNARD has arrived, and can be consulted on the past, pres ent and future. She will give entire satisfaction on all the concerns of life, such as law-suits, love affairs, marriages, journeys and all business transac-tions. All who have been unsuccessful and nufortunate in this life should consult her. She will bring success to all who have been deceived by those they love; she will hring back the absent Pumping and Tubing loved ones; she will make up quarrels of every description, and place them in their former Eden; she will make you happy, when all others fall; and she will honestly and frankly tell you what is best for you to do. This will save you time and money, and keep your mind content. In love affairs she never fails. She has the secret of winning the love and adoration of the opposite sex. She will guide the single to a happy marriage and make the married happy; she will tell of absent friends, whether they are living or dead, or if they are in the war or not, or on the sea, or on the land, or if they will ever come home, when and how; she will bring news from frieuds, uo matter where they are, and make delinquents answer letters; she is a sure dependance; she is a perfect lady, and practices nothing that is not reconcilable to philosophers. A single visit is sufficient to convince the most fastidious. Come, then, all who are in trouble. She has a word of sympathy for you, and will pledge herself to do her very best for you. She will describe the character of your future or present husband or wife. If you have tried others, do not despair. There is luck and happiness yet for you. Come, and try the Madam, and send all your friends. In short, she can do all that others do, and much more. She is the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter, and the seventh danghter of the seventh daughter, and was born with three valls over her face. The poor sick have her warmest sympathy. All who are suffering with asthma, scrolula, dyspepsin, palu in the side, rheumatism, sore eyes or cars, or pain in any part of the body, all chronic diseases, no matter what their names are; she can positively cure all chronic diseases. Let the poor afflicted sick rejoice. Their frieud has come. She is a physician by nature, and has been endowed from her birth with many wonderful girts. Her mission on earth is to heal the sick and comfort the afflicted. Ladles, if you are suffering with a failing, or invertion, or inflammation of the womh, or anything of this sort, call and get a box of her wonderful female pills.
